I Am Royalty: Profiles In Black History is a series of biographical anthologies that are compiled to serve as bridges throughout many different communities. The purposes of these bridges are to close gaps that are left in our communities and to create productive routes for the young people who live within them. Over 35 Black/African-American Men and Women have come together to bring each volume life, and we are actively recruiting to continue this effort to make this project an on-going event. Our mission is to take these stories into places that need positive light and spread these lights into some of darkest areas. We will share our stories throughout schools, churches, community groups, and throughout the streets to begin recruiting our youth for productive activities. We have collaborated with Black/African-American Men and Women that represent different backgrounds, upbringings, fields of business, and options (for the future) that can be followed.
